http://techdailydose.nationaljournal.com/2012/06/terry-net-neutrality-supporter.php

A top lawmaker on the House Energy and Commerce Committee Wednesday said while he is glad to see U.S. policy makers joining forces to oppose international efforts to regulate the Internet, the Federal Communications Commission's net neutrality rules undermine U.S. credibility on the issue.

Continue reading here