Two Omaha men on Sunday became among the 5 percent of Boy Scouts to earn the rank of Eagle Scout. The achievement — scouting's highest honor — is even more unusual because both have Down syndrome.

About 150 people turned out to congratulate Mike McNally and Zach Markus, both 23, at a special ceremony in the Holy Cross School gymnasium near 48th Street and Woolworth Avenue.

Click here to continue reading.