

OMAHA - Congressman Lee Terry is pleased to congratulate Omaha student Dave Hill, the winner of the 2007 Congressional art competition.

Hill's art was chosen by a panel of independent judges to go on display in the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C. , this year. Hill is a junior at Omaha's Alpha School , and his winning art is titled "Snake in Green" a mixed media of yarn and ink. "Snake in Green" will soon be displayed in the Capitol among winners from other congressional districts around the country.

"I congratulate Dave for his persistence and creativity and wish him all the best in the future," Terry said. "He is a bright young man with much potential in art and any other efforts he chooses to pursue."

Hill visited Congressman Terry's congressional office in Omaha, and his art instructor at Alpha School, Jeff Yoachim, also met with Congressman Terry to join in the congratulations. Also in attendance were Becky Swangerg of Release Ministries and Paul Jensen with Southwest Airlines, a sponsor and supporter of the congressional art competition.
