

WASHINGTON- Today Congressman Lee Terry (R-NE) had the honor of meeting with more than 100 Nebraska and western Iowa WW II veterans in Washington, D.C. The veterans descended on the nation's capitol to visit the National World War II Memorial and participate in the laying of a wreath at the memorial which was completed in 2004.

"It was a majestic sight seeing so many deserving veterans visit a memorial designed, built and dedicated specifically to honor them and their service. The sacrifices they've made will never be forgotten. It was an honor and privilege to meet so many fine veterans," said Congressman Terry.

The veterans came to Washington, D.C. as part of the Honor Flight program. Honor Flight is a non profit organization that provides trips for WWII veterans free of charge.
