

WASHINGTON- To better serve constituents with increased transparency Congressman Lee Terry has launched a new Congressional website. The new and improved website includes detailed information on numerous pieces of legislation Congressman Terry has introduced and co-sponsored. The site also includes important information on grants, financial aid and constituent services.

A new feature on the site is a match game created just for children. The game allows kids of all ages to match Presidents and Washington, D.C. monuments while learning a fact about each President and monument.

"Communicating with the people I represent is one of my top priorities, said Congressman Lee Terry. "I hope people find my new website informational and user friendly."

Individuals can sign up for regular email updates from Congressman Terry and the site will have frequently updated video and photos.

The website was designed by Chip Thompson of Chip Thompson Design and Marketing of Omaha. The match game for kids was designed by "The Simpsons" freelance animator Ben Lane of Omaha. Congressman Terry's website can be found at: www.leeterry.house.gov
