

The contentious debate over a pipeline that would import crude oil from Canada is moving from the White House to Capitol Hill.

Senate Foreign Relations ranking member Dick Lugar plans to announce a bill Wednesday that would press the Obama administration to make a faster decision on the Keystone XL pipeline, a spokeswoman for the Indiana Republican told Roll Call.

To continue reading the story click here .